

“Vodafone World of Difference”, Vodafone Foundation

With the participation of the Tipping Point in the “Vodafone World of Difference” programme the TTP team is growing! Voula Chrysanthakopoulou will work in the organization for six months as the Operations Manager and will be responsible for the implementation of the TTP programme in schools across Greece, thus bringing the organization closer to achieving its ultimate goal for the current school year. In particular, Voula will be responsible for the communication and training of the new teachers, who - along with the new schools - will be included in the programme, as well as the coordination for the classroom sessions. In addition, she will be responsible for searching, training and coordinating mentors, as well as for the development of collaborations with organizations that will enable TTP to enrich its mentors’ community with more professionals who are passionate about what they do and want to offer their knowledge to young people. Voula’s previous work experience as an Intern in Upstream, as well as her volunteer work in organizations such as AIESEC of Athens University of Economics and Business and TEDxAUEB, will strengthen the existing team with knowledge and new ideas. But most importantly, Voula shares the same values and vision as Amalia and Iliana, the current members of the TTP team.

The “Vodafone World of Difference” programme is a worldwide programme of the Vodafone Foundation that has been implemented in Greece since 2010, having nominated so far 69 winners who worked in non profit organizations of their choice in areas all over Greece, such as Athens, Thessaloniki, Drama, Kastoria, Corfu, Kozani, Komotini, Crete, Mytilene, Patra, Paros and Prespes, offering significant work to the local community.
