

Meet the STEM world!

The action "Meet the STEM world!" is implemented for the 3rd consecutive year and aims to introduce students to STEM sciences (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics).

Mentors, professionals from the mentioned disciplines, speak with students through live group sessions and give them the opportunity to learn about STEM sciences, their applications, and associated careers in a simple and understandable way.

The action includes the participation of student groups in the 7th Generation Next Contest by the Vodafone Foundation, where they go from theory to real-world action, crafting innovative projects to tackle everyday challenges in their lives and communities, while using the knowledge they have gained.

The action is being implemented for the 2023-2024 school year with the support of Vodafone Foundation, as part of the Generation Next program.
