

“From the metropolitan cities of the world to the school classes of Greece”

Members of the Onassis Scholars’ Association become mentors and introduce students all over Greece to Entrepreneurship, Research and Culture.

Acclaimed professionals who currently live in metropolitan cities throughout the world, talk with the students about their knowledge of their sector, their academic and professional course through their experiences, offering them the chance to find new career outlets outside their comfort zone, in three dynamic sectors.

Through live sessions and asynchronous questions and answers, this action aims at encouraging and supporting students to broaden their horizons and discover new paths for their future.

The project “From the metropolitan cities of the world to the school classes of Greece” is implemented with the support of the Onassis Scholars’ Association.
